whether they be on the water or on the roads. Thank you. I'll return the rest of my time back to the Chair.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Jensen. Senator Bourne.

SENATOR BOURNE: Thank you, Mr. President. Members, I just want to reiterate that it does seem to be, as Senator Bromm mentioned, quite a heavy load for a Final Reading thing. I don't know if many of you experience this, but oftentimes we'll advance a bill that has some controversial stuff in it at General File and, you know, I'll get a lot of comments between General File and Select, and I don't know if any of you do the same. I would assume that you do. And I get comments and I pay attention to those and have changed my mind on issues just because of the commentary that is reported between General File and Select. And, you know, I don't know if 25-year-old, 25 years of age is too old, too young, I don't know. I don't know if 94 decibels or 96 decibels is too loud or not. Does that stop airboats from being used on the Platte River? I know a lot of hunters use those on the river, things of that nature. I don't know, and the point that I'm trying to make is, is I don't know that any of us know and we rely on public input as a bill works its way through the process. I'm not opposed to tightening any of these regulations or rules or laws up to make our lakes and rivers safer. I just want to do it in a way that makes sense and, to me, the way that makes most sense is to have public input. And I think that if we advance this now, put it on the bill for Final Reading, we lose out on an opportunity for public input. So I'm not going to support the return to Select File or the amendment, or the bill if this is adopted. Thank you.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Bourne. Senator Johnson, followed by Senator Bromm.

SENATOR JOHNSON: Senator Cudaback, members of the body, I guess some of the good qualities of Senator Jensen are rubbing off on me a little bit, because I have jotted down some notes that I thought were worth commenting about as well, and what it is is this; is that for the last several days now we've had bills here about helmets, guns, and now motorboats, and the common theme
